* The Clean Air Act Advisory Committee is one of 27 within EPA and about 1000 government-wide.
The agencies with the most committees are HHS (primarily NIH), DOI, NSF, DOD and DOT.
Overall, about 30,000 individuals are involved in this process at a total annual cost currently estimated at $150 million.

More information on the Federal Advisory Committee Act (FACA) is available from GSA at the web site of its Committee Management Secretariat:
<http://policyworks.gov/org/main/mc/>

EPA personnel also have access to internal information and support through Lotus Notes. The database is within the FACA folder on the server:
